

PRESS RELEASE 5/25/2016

The second title in the history of Finnish tournament fighting games beta launches in June as Finnish company Oy Frak Ltd releases their first game! Check out the bloodiest mobile game trailer ever at gladiatorbastards.frak.fi!

“Six hard hitting fighters clash in the bloody arenas of ancient Rome! The price is blood, glory and gold! The losers get their vital organs chopped off! The player chooses her character and fights her way through the Roman empire all the way to Colosseum to challenge the deranged emperor Caligula himself!”

The arcade style virtual controller gameplay of Gladiator Bastards is easy to understand, but the game is hard to master. Fighter characters all have basic moves, jumps and projectiles and each character has its own unique special moves in the tradition of Street Fighter 2 and Mortal Combat. The challenge keeps growing the further in the game you get!

At the time of this writing the game is available via Google Play store as in beta version and via Apples iOS store in the test flight mode. Instructions and additional information is available in Gladiator Bastards page! The game includes in-game purchases which allow players to buy additional characters. Characters can also be purchased with virtual currency that is obtained by gaining victories in the game.

The target audience for Gladiator Bastards lies within more grown up audiences and it is intended but not limited for the gamers who appreciate the tournament fighting game arcade nostalgia of 1980's and 1990's. Our game is rated PEGI 16 because of the violence so it is not recommended for toddlers!

Gladiator Bastards has been in production around 18 months now. We basically have learned everything about making games the hard way. Also the trash movie like storytelling had to be changed several times in order to fit within the boundaries of tournament fighter game.

This ain't no Angry Birds!
